LIVING AT UNSW
CONNECT, GROW AND BELONG ON CAMPUS

Living on campus is unlike any other accommodation option. Colleges have a stronger culture of socialising, while apartments have more opportunity for independence. Both are places to grow alongside fellow students, fulfilling your personal and academic potential.

Whichever option you choose, UNSW will become your home and community.
COLOMBO HOUSE

The only college to give you the freedom to cook your own meals, but still be part of college events and social life. You'll gain independence while being part of a community.

WHAT'S INCLUDED?

All college rooms are single-occupancy. All prices include: furniture, wi-fi, water, electricity and gas. There is a non-refundable application fee of $100. *Prices subject to change.

FIG TREE HALL

A multi-faith and multicultural college with strong academic support. In respect for a multitude of faiths, Fig Tree Hall is alcohol-free and features both gender-segregated and mixed floors.

UNSW HALL

Drawing students from around the world and Australia, this is a place to broaden your understanding of others in a close and active community. Regular events are complemented by academic support.

COLOMBO HOUSE

The only college to give you the freedom to cook your own meals, but still be part of college events and social life. You'll gain independence while being part of a community.

INTERNATIONAL HOUSE

A cross-cultural college with a mix of international and domestic students in their senior undergraduate or post-graduate studies. Cultural, social and sporting activities add to the supportive environment.

THE KENSINGTON COLLEGES

Made up of the three residential colleges — Basser, Baxter and Goldstein — you’ll find a strong sense of community, a vivid social life and academic support.
